

Whatever happen to choice and competition. I think satellite radio should be allowed to air weather and other services. What happens next, if some powerful broadcaster in old media feels threatened?